OK $5 Million Shopping Center

The green light for the $5 million center planned for the Grove avenue and Foothill boulevard area was granted by the city council at its meeting Monday night.

The 26 acres located on an odd-shaped lot will contain 240,000 sq. ft. of stores, offices, banks and medical buildings. The largest building in the complex will be occupied by Crawford Food market.

The partners in the project appeared at the meeting. They are Radnner Qvalle, Mrs. Crawford and another Qvalle. Spokesmen for the group were R. Qvalle, architect, and Ray Crawford, son of Mrs. Crawford.

TWO STATIONS

The men presented sketches and information to the council and answered questions about the project. One discussion centered around the two service stations planned on the corners of Foothill boulevard and Grove avenue.

Councilman Ronald Rossitter said he had some misgivings about two gas stations since so many vacant ones occur. He said he had studied the situation and found the oil companies were particularly bad about buying property in prime areas, establishing a gas station, and then abandoning them, only to have the stations deteriorate. He wanted assurance that this wouldn't happen here.

LITTLE TROUBLE

Crawford said the architecture of the stations was conrolled and that it had proven in the past that gas stations located in shopping centers had very little economic trouble.

After settling the sign situation, Councilman Rossitter then turned back to the subject of gas stations. He made a motion that they (the council) would approve the Conditional Use Permit for the shopping center contingent upon the addition of a clause that would state if either gas station is out of operation for six months, then all of the surface buildings and underground tanks would have to be removed.

Councilman Rossitter then asked the developers if they were familiar with the sign ordinance and they said no, but they thought they could live with it.

WILL NOT BLAST SIGNS

"We're not going to blast signs all over the place. Graphics is part of our design and we want signs that will blend," Qvalle, the architect, told the council.

Mayor George Gibson said, "We have a liberal sign ordinance and it is a good one."

HOW LONG TO BUILD

Councilman Rossitter then turned to the question of how long it would take to build the center. "Let's make it known that the center will be constructed in three phases and over a period of six years and not all at once," he said. The owners said it would have to be built in increments rather than all at once.

There has been no date set for groundbreaking for the center.

Another Band Concert Planned For The Kiosk

It will soon be concert time again. Mark your calendars for Saturday night, Sept. 13, for that is when the 20 piece Navy Band from Long Beach will present a concert in the Kiosk. Last year, the Disneyland Band played the first concert in the Kiosk. The appearance of Mickey Mouse highlighted that evening.

Councilman Ronald Rossitter, chairman of Parks and Recreation, and a band enthusiast, has sparked the interest for this year's concert.

It is expected that as last year, refreshments will be available and some folding chairs will be placed around the Kiosk area. The councilman points out that this is a fun night to be enjoyed by young and old alike.

UPLAND DAY -- Bill Mior, chairman Fireball 12, Don Dean, member Fireball 12, and Walter Reardon, chamber president, check plans for Upland Day at Mt. Baldy to be held Sunday, Aug. 10 from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Free ski lift coupons are in the newspaper. Free skiing, and a West End Sing Out performance will be among the day's highlights.

Seventy-Fifth Year No. 22 — Upland, California, Thursday, August 7, 1969 — 42 Pages 10 Cents

Pay Hikes, Adjustments Set For City Employes

Some of Upland City employees received a pay hike and others received a salary adjustment with the approval Monday night by the city council of the addition of $125,915 to the budget.

This represents a 5-to-20% increase in salaries of the employees ranging from the least paid, clerk cashier, $412, to the highest paid Director of Public Works, $1,332. A hassle developed over the salaries of the library workers, who are not on the regular payroll, but are under a library board.

Councilman Ronald Rossitter, chairman of the Library Board, angrily told the council members it was not fair to penalize the library by taking money from its fund for salary increases. He claimed $5,000 had been taken from the library funds to add to the unappropriated funds to help make the raises possible.

Elwin Alder, city manager, claimed there would be a saving in the utility bills at the library and this would replace the $5,000 taken. "You can rationalize it any way you want, but you chose to spend the $5,000 on raises and we have no guarantee that the utilities will save enough to pay for the loss," Rossitter said. "The gross amount is less," he added. "All employees should be treated alike and the library should not be treated like an orphan child just because it doesn't fall under city administration."

He asked the money be restored so the library could be kept open on Sunday's and the services be increased.

After the original motion on other employees' salaries was passed, Councilman Rossitter made a motion that the $5,000 be restored and the salaries of library workers upgraded as well as having Sunday hours established from 1 to 4 p.m. On a roll call vote, it was four to one with Councilman Max Hawkins dissenting.

HAWKINS DISSENT

Asked later why he voted against the measure, Hawkins said, "The library got its share this year. We've spent enough money on the library already this year. If we had new parks, we wouldn't have all new playground equipment, why do we have to have everything complete in the first year of the library."

In other business, the council approved the promotion of Sgt. Thomas Smith to Captain in the Police Department.

--Approved the final weed abatement report and approved Planning Commission and City Engineer's recommendations.

Torn Up Streets?

Torn up streets in Upland? Yes, several are under construction for one thing or another, according to Fred Blanchard, city engineer.

San Antonio avenue from 11th street to Foothill boulevard is being widened at the cost of $55,000. The city will also build a service road on Foothill boulevard just above the high school athletic field.

San Antonio drive is being widened between 15th and 16th streets, drainage improvements are being installed, at the cost of $17,281. Euclid avenue is being improved from Stowell street down to the AT&SF railroad tracks and from Stowell street to First avenue. Cost of these two projects is $52,529 and $4,234.

There are pedestrian signals being installed at Arrow highway and 5th avenue. Cost of these is $3,535, according to Blanchard.

Restoration Work On Cuca Creek To Begin

San Bernardino County now has $1,844,103 in its possession to initiate work on flood control projects throughout the county.

Work on the various projects, including Cucamonga Creek, is expected to begin early this month.

The amount received July 28 by the Board of Supervisors is one-half the total approved claim of $3,688,206 to come from the Office of Emergency Preparedness of the Federal Government.

Additionally, an estimated $1,800,000 in flood control work will be performed by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers throughout the county.

Of the $3,600,00, approximately $938,000 will be used in Zone 1 of the Flood Control District, which encompasses the West End from Fontana to the Los Angeles County line.

Of the $938,000, about $513,000 will be utilized in restoring Cucamonga Creek, Deer, Day, Etiwanda and Sansevine Creeks to pre-flood conditions. About $200,000 is solely for Cucamonga Creek and adjacent area.

The Army Engineers plan an additional $200,000 worth of work on the creek out of the $1,800,000 they will perform in the county.

According to Arthur Sidler, San Bernardino County Flood Control chief, work was proceeding on restoration of the creeks throughout the county, "until we ran out of money."

Sidler said work had to be shut down until advances, part of which were just received, were available.

Work to begin shortly on Cucamonga Creek and surrounding creeks will include removal of debris from upstream debris basins to develop storage for subsequent storm waters this season, restoration of creek banks and rehabilitation of existing channels.

Sidler said the county was pushing hard to get Congress to override presidential budget proposals so that Federal funds for permanent work on the channel would be forthcoming.

Traffic Signal Award

UPLAND--A contract for $33,323 was awarded to Paul Gardner Corporation of Ontario for installing a traffic signal and highway lighting system and constructing channelization on Foothill Blvd at Second Ave, the California Dept. of Public Works announced Friday.

Plans Sister City Seminar

Mayor George M. Gibson announced this week that a formal invitation has been sent to our Sister City seeking their participation in the forthcoming U. S. - Mexico Sister City Conference. The 6th annual seminar is slated to be held at the Los Angeles Hilton August 18-21, 1969.

According to Mayor Gibson, a contingent from Upland will join in the 3-day confab with representatives from Caborca, Sonora, Mexico. Co-sponsored by the Town Affiliation Association, the assemblage is expected to draw participants from 300 Mexican and American cities. President Nixon has been invited to attend the conference, and Governor Ronald Reagan has been invited to deliver the welcoming address, along with Los Angeles host Mayor Sam Yorty. Mr. Martin G. Castillo, recently appointed by President Nixon as chairman of the Inter-Agency Committee on Mexican-American Affairs, will be one of the conference speakers.

The tentative program calls for colorful opening ceremonies to be followed by workshops designed to promote international understanding. Based on a theme of "Focus on Friendship", the meeting will conclude with a banquet on August 21, dedicated to our Mexican counterparts. A number of hollywood stars and television personalities are also expected to join the international good will conclave.

Purpose of the parley is to encourage an exchange of views so that the American way of life may be better understood by Latin Americans. The conference will also provide a two-way exchange of ideas so that traditions and history of the Mexican people can be more fully appreciated by U. S. residents.

Mrs. Zella H. Stone, city councilman and President of the Town Affiliation Association, will be attending the conference as the official representative of the City of Upland. Thomas Lucero, Jr., Vice President of the Association will be the official delegate of that organization. Several other members have also made plans to attend.

New Director For Boys Club

UPLAND- Rudolph Rodriguez, 29, of Oceanside has been appointed director of the Upland Boys' Club.

Rodriguez takes over his duties in September and will succeed Jack Givens, interm director. Rodriguez has served as director for the San Bieguito Boys' Club branch for the past two years. He completed high school in Oceanside and Carlsbad and received an associate in arts degree in recreation administration from Mira Costa Junior College in 1968. He is presently attending San Diego State College.

Council Weighs Exchange

No action was taken, but the proposal to trade a piece of land located on the Civic Center site, Euclid avenue and Arrow highway, for a piece of land located on Second avenue and Seventh street, was discussed by the city council at its meeting Monday night.

The matter came up when Councilman Ronald Rossitter asked the council if it were feasible for the trade to be made. He said he had been approached by some people about the exchange.

The Arrow highway - Euclid avenue property is one of the last pieces of property remaining in the Civic Center group. The others have been bought up spasmodically since last year. At the July 22 council meeting, Elwin Alder, city manager, asked the property at Arrow and Euclid which contains a service station, be condemned so as to proceed with the civic center acquisition. The council approved the move unanimously.

Intertwined in the matter is a zone change that has been pending since last year asked for by Arthur Lawrence on a piece of property on Second avenue and Seventh street. He seeks to put medical buildings there. The zone change has been held up by the proposed study by the Task Force who has not decided which way to go in redeveloping that area.

Earlier in the year, the off-ramp for the San Bernardino freeway was approved for that corner. It was felt at that time this move would bring people to the downtown area.

It was pointed out by the councilman that the exchange might help save the city some money.

The council referred the matter to Elwin Alder, city manager, for study.

Highway 30 60 Day Detour

Highway traffic on State route 30 (Nineteenth Street) in the City of Upland has been detoured via Mountain Avenue and 16th Street for approximately 60 days, the detour began on Wednesday, July 30, while highway work is in progress, according to the California Division of Highways.

Curb and gutter will be installed on 19th Street just west of Mountain Avenue adjacent to a tract development for a distance of about 700 feet. Sidewalk will also be constructed on the south side of the highway, according to C.V. Kane, District Engineer in San Bernardino.

Library Reading

The last day to report books for the Upland Library Reading program is Aug. 16th, according to Phyllis Frost, children's librarian. So far out of the 300 children enrolled in the summer reading program, 85 have qualified for their reading certificates.

On Wednesday, Aug. 20, there will be two parties held for those who have completed their reading assignments. One is to be held at 10 a. m. and the other at 11 a. m. The parties will be held at the library.

Good Program

Upland's Recreation Program has been successful this year, attendance was up over last year, and some new activities were added which has broadened the program.

All in all, it was a worthy effort and a special commendation should go to George Schilens, recreation director and Dan Milakovich, assistant recreation director, for putting together a fine program with the limited funds alloted them.

It was especially good to note that many of the school buildings in the elementary district were used, as well as the Upland High School swimming pool and tennis courts. This is wise use of buildings that would ordinarily be standing vacant in the summers.

The city should be congratulated on its summer recreation program. But, it should also take a long look at the possibility of a year around recreation program in cooperation with the schools.

Especially needed is a community wide Halloween party that might be held in Memorial Park. This could include a costume parade, and refreshments, with maybe supervisional help from the PTA's.

Then there is the Christmas holiday when with time on young hands it might be better for them to be in a craft class and not getting into mischief.

Finally, there is the Easter Holiday with another week of time. These quantity programs would not have to be elaborate, but well planned enough to take care of most youngsters' interest and at little cost to the city.

It would be well for the city fathers to take a look at a yearly recreation program and the hiring of a full time recreation director who could oversee the teen center as well.

Usually money spent on the youth of a town is a wise investment.

Vandalism's Price

The vandalism by kids around the country should be curbed. It is annually destroying millions of dollars worth of property, from windowpanes to schoolrooms. We believe this vandalism would be more seriously tackled if everybody counted the tremendous cost.

Now comes word that the Penn Central Railroad spent $655,000 replacing 6,566 panes of glass in passenger car windows in 1968. The New Haven sector recently replaced 3,000 heavy windowpanes, costing nearly $100 each. The brand new Turbotrain, of which every New Englander should be proud, has had five windows broken on a single trip. Fortunately, double safety glass has kept injuries low.

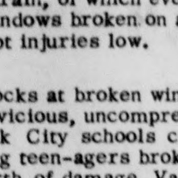

Anybody can understand kids throwing rocks at broken windows in a deserted factory. But there is a more vicious, uncomprehending vandalism today. Destruction in New York City schools cost $2.7 million last year. In Philadelphia two young teen-agers broke into a new school and caused nearly $100,000 worth of damage. Vandalism in Boston's public schools runs to about $500,000 a year.

But all of this is thoughtless, vicious, unnecessary. Railroad police have spoken at schools, showed movies, staked out high incident areas. Yet each year the damage actually mounts. It is time for the home, and even broken homes in slum areas, to realize that this vandalism is senselessly consuming funds-for repairs-that might well go into rehabilitating cities and improving a lot of people's lives. And one last point: we think that kids, who always defend the underdog, should hardly want to throw stones at the New Haven or Long Island Railroads!

PHASE IT OUT

As much as the Air Pollution Control officials would like to have us believe they are making progress in their fight against smog--we don't thing they are. Certainly it is not any better than it was five years ago or three years ago.

Maybe we can "phase it out" like a Councilman over at Upland suggests in combatting their fly nuisance. It says, "In a matter of years the chicken and egg ranches will phase themselves out of the area and the problem will no longer exist."

Maybe with enough motorists slamming into each other--the smog problem will phase itself out, too. But don't bet on it.

PEOPLE WE CAN DO WITHOUT:

Those who complain that newspapers always exploit the bad doings of youngsters but never the good things (keep track some time in any newspaper and the ratio is five to one with the good deeds, ranging from honor rolls to worthwhile projects). . .Female shoppers in the supermarket with top-heavy baskets who make you wait 15 minutes before you can pay for your loaf of bread and depart. . .City and school officials who compile those charts showing how much the neighboring cities and school districts are paying (and carefully avoiding those who pay lower). . . .Welfare recipients who make absolutely no effort to get off the rolls and welfare department employes who aid and abet them in this cycle. . .Our so-called political leaders in Washington, D.C. and their complete indifference to inflation.

PURELY PERSONAL PIFFLE

The two most scenic spots in the United States: Ouray, Colorado and Jenny Lake and the Tetons in the Jackson Hole country of Wyoming. . .Most picturesque spot on this continent, Taxco, Mexico. . .The most aggressive political pushers (Bobby and Teddy Kennedy) in behalf of Brother John F. in 1960. . . And why doesn't Channel 5 ferret out Baxter Ward after his political defeat put him in charge of the news and send Tom Reddin back to running the LA police department?. . . Our favorite sports commentator, Gil Stratton.

SOBERING THOT:

Despite the general prosperity of the nation, almost three million new names have been added to the relief rolls in the past 10 years. More than 10 million persons now receive welfare payments."

SOBERING THOT NO. 2

The State of California is rapidly running out of recreational facilities. The time isn't too distant when you'll have to drive 300-600 miles on a weekend for a spot to park your trailer along a stream or in the mountains. Just look at the beach and mounting camping spots within a 150-mile radius today.

ONE THAT STICKS

Being an individual who can recall very few lines of poetry and even few lines of quotations, there is one which always sticks in our memory. (It appears on a school building in Greeley, Colorado).

"If you covet learning's prize. Climb her heights and take it. In ourselves our fortunes lie. Life is what we make it."

How true.

After Smog

AFTER SMOG

Almost everybody is talking about smog and air pollution in general, but unlike the weather, somebody's doing something about it.

Some time ago the Monterey-Santa Cruz County Unified Air Pollution Control Board, on the basis of recommendations by an advisory commission, set what it considered a rigid standard for the amount of nitrogen oxide that could be turned loose in the air by industrial installations. According to John McCallie, chairman of the Board, the standard -- 500 parts per million -- was expected to become a precedent for similar districts throughout the nation.

Boards can set ideal standards, but it's up to industry to do something about meeting them. And industry is. In the Monterey-Santa Cruz area, for example, Pacific Gas and Electric Company has, in McCallie's words, "made astounding progress" in reducing the smog output from its Moss Landing Power Plant "far beyond what was required of it."

Two new boilers at the plant are producing from 90 to 140, and from 63 to 107 parts per million respectively, as compared to the permissible 500. Modification of two old boilers has brought their output down into the same range.

It would seem that two good precedents have been set for the nation in Monterey and Santa Cruz counties.

Upland Day At Mt. Baldy

Whee! Up, up and away on the chair lift went the press to take pictures atop Mt. Baldy. My colleague from the Daily Report, Terry Noble, is afraid of heights and he took one look at the chair lift and turned white. I'm not keen about riding chair lifts either, but work is work and so off we went. He was hanging on for dear life and I was trying to cheer him up. He wasn't about to be cheered.

Coming down, he was feeling a little better and managed to note some of the quiet wild life and rugged scenery. What he doesn't know is that I'm not too keen about riding on chair lifts, but someone in the Fourth Estate had to be brave.

HATS OFF

Bud Sterk, 279 N. Second ave., called the other day and wanted to extend a big "thanks" to the fire department and San Antonio Community hospital.

It seems on last July 19, he was stricken at his apartment with a heart attack. His landlady, Helen Campos, called the fire department. It was also the day of a big brush fire and some of the equipment was tied up. Nevertheless, Fire Chief Leon Lamphear and some other fire officers responded almost immediately along with the police. Due to the quick help, Sterk was at the hospital in record time and survived the attack. He also praised the hospital for its fine care and speedy emergency service.

Homesick Hater

Eldridge Cleaver, the fugitive minister of information for the Black Panthers, has been quoted as saying in Algeria that he is homesick for the United States. Here is how he feels about his beloved homeland:

"I don't applaud the space shot--I could only applaud if the U.S. Government would commit suicide."

"We need rockets fired on Washington, D.C."

Of San Francisco and "that pig (Mayor) Alioto" he said he'd return if he thought he could get a fair trial as a parole violator from San Quentin, where he had been sentenced for his role in a gun battle between Oakland Police and the Panthers last year.

To this Mayor Alioto replied: "He should have no worry. The Constitution protects his rights. He'll get a fair trial. After all, this is not Cuba, Algeria or Red China."

Then the Mayor commented on what is probably Cleaver's greatest difficulty, rejection of violence by the black community. "The black residents of the Western Addition and Hunters Point assert their claims vigorously and militantly, but not violently, and they are making substantial progress. In the final analysis, the apostles of violence hurt the cause of the black community."

Come home, little Eldridge. If you dare.

CABLE CADET -- Linda Fisher, 17-year-old first lieutenant from Cable Cadet Squadron 25, holds a plaque awarded her by the Elks club of Reno, Nevada, for Americanism and being voted the outstanding girl cadet in the summer session of CAPC National Leadership school. Linda teaches baton in the Upland summer recreation program and will be a senior at Upland high school.

Linda Fisher Selected Top Flight Girl Cadet

BY JUDY JORDAHL

When a talented woman enters a man's field, she generally rises to the top. So it is with Linda Fisher, 17, a Civil Air Patrol Cadet first lieutenant from Cable Cadet Squadron 25.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. Fisher, 8553 Redhill Country Club Drive, Cucamonga. She has two sisters-Jeanne, 21, who has entered police work, and Donna 16--and a brother Larry, 20, who is in the Navy.

She joined the cadet squadron two and a half years ago because she thought aviation was facinating. She had orginally thought about becoming an airline stewardess.

As a female cadet--one of eight girls in the 40-member squadron-Linda has risen high. Of three cadets chosen from Southern California to attend the CAPC National Leadership School in Reno, Nev., she was the only girl.

At the school she received an Americanism award in the form of a plaque presented by the Elks club to a girl voted upon by the six cadet school squadrons.

Joining the CAP Cadets can be a good preparation for an Air Force career, Miss Fisher said. Young people can join the cadets from age 13-18. They remain a cadet until they are 21, at which time they have the option of remaining as a senior member to assist in instructing younger cadets.

In Cable Squadron 25 about seven members are of senior status. The squadron was established about eight years ago, she said.

Miss Fisher plans to remain in the cadets at least until she is 21. As a senior at Upland High School she has been taking a college preparation course of study, and intends to go on to Chaffey College after she is graduated, working towards a career as a history and PE teacher.

She feels her experience as a cadet has taught her much about leadership and wilderness survival. She has also learned how to meet the public.

She is currently in Phase 3 of Cadet training, which is staff duty analysis. Phase 1 involved an introduction to aerospace, and Phase 2 was further aerospace education.

Her responsibilities include being executive member of the squadron committee and secretary to the Cadet Advisory Council, to which eight squadrons from the West End area to Glendale send representatives.

Aside from Cadet activities, Linda teaches baton for the Upland summer recreation program.

Maury Helps 'Moon Men' Talk To Their Leaders

Maury Microwave Corporation, Cucamonga, participated in the success of the Apollo "Man in the Moon" program by supplying microwave components and instrumentation to the NASA Deep Space Network of tracking stations throughout the world.

The first communication signals, both video and voice transmitted from the first men on the moon were received at the NASA 210 foot antenna, located at Goldstone Tracking Station in the Mojave Desert north of Barstow, California.

Maury Microwave Corporation has supplied a variety of microwave components used in the receiving systems, as well as instrumentation for calibrating this huge antenna, which is the largest operational antenna in the world specifically designed for space communications.

This antenna, commonly known as the "210 foot dish" has been used to receive communications from previous Apollo flights and is continuously being used to receive signals from NASA's deep space probes.

Maury Microwave has two technical staff members who previously had been closely associated with the NASA space program. Dave White is a former Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, employee who has worked on many of the antenna systems developed for space communications and Robert Haag, a Microwave Specialist, who has worked at Goldstone Tracking Station in testing and calibrating the 210 foot dish.

Maury Microwave has participated in other programs such as the Mariner spacecraft series where they supplied flight hardware in addition to their heavy involvement with tracking station installations throughout the network. Maury Microwave is constantly supplying equipment which is used in conjunction with space exploration activities.

PAUSE BETWEEN CLASHES -- Shoppers at Montclair Plaza gather to watch as Dr. Francis Zold, fencing instructor from Claremont, wearing black, gives Sam Crowe, Class C fencer in white from Ontario, a lesson in fencing. Any hit from the waist up by either point or side of the blade is fair and scores a touch against the person hit. Saber fencing is currently non-electric and is one of three varieties of competitive fencing for men. The saber sword is the heaviest, its handle curves down around the hand, as the picture illustrates.

SWORDS CLASH -- Sam Crowe of Ontario, far left, watches with mask in hand as Joe Byrner of Pasadena and Sheila Armstrong of Upland lunge forward in a practice session of saber fencing. Sheila is a Class A fencer who attends Cal Poly as a PE sophomore. Crowe is a Class C fencer. All are members of the West End Fencing club, meeting in the modern dance room of Montclair high school.

Art Of Fencing Finds Enthusiasts In W. E.

To television viewers of the late show the ring of clashing metal calls to mind scenes of gay cavaliers of the romantic period of history, defending their honor, or their lady, with the sword.

In flower during the Middle Ages and declining in later periods, fencing was revived by the resumption of the Olympic Games in 1896, and is still very much alive today as a sport and an art.

Its practitioners in the West End and San Gabriel valley areas include about 20 members of the West End Fencing club, which was started about four years ago out of a summer recreation program.

The members come from such cities as Claremont, Upland, Ontario, Montclair, La Verne, and Pasadena to practice Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings in the modern dance room at Montclair high school, with Wednesday nights being recreation nights, open to beginners.

HUNGARIAN INSTRUCTOR

Instructing the club is fencing master Dr. Francis Zold of Claremont. He has daily teaching commitments at the University of Southern California, Cal Poly, the Claremont colleges, as well as for the club, and the Montclair and Claremont recreation programs.

Dr. Zold holds doctorate degrees in literature, international law, and fencing from the University of Budapest. He fled Hungary with his wife Anna and his son Tony, now 23, during the Communist take-over in 1956 because he could not accept the Communist philosophy.

Dr. Zold's students are fast rising to prominence in the fencing world.

In this year's Women's Northwest Collegiate Championships in individual competition Cal Poly won first place and Pomona took third and eighth, while in team competition, Pomona placed first.

HIGH RANKING CLUB

In the fencing club alone are two nationally ranked fencers--Sheila Armstrong of Upland, Class A fencer who jumped from 21st to 11th in the nation within the past year, and is the No. 1 woman fencer in southern California, and Clark Presson of Claremont, Class C fencer who went from 24th to 14th.

Besides these, three other members hold Class C rankings -- Sam Crowe of Ontario, Elisa Brown of La Verne, and Nicki Edwards of Pasadena.

To obtain a ranking a fencer must enter and win first place in a class tournament that has been designated strong enough to provide challenging competition for the winning fencer.

OLYMPIC FENCERS

Arranged according to degree of skill, the first 20 fencers in each class receive national ranking. Of these, the four highest form the Olympic fencing team if they remain undefeated in the Olympic trials sponsored by the Amateur Fencer's League of America, which was founded in 1891.

Fencing has never gained wide popularity in the United States, explained Sheila Armstrong. Only about 5,300 fencers are recorded by the AFLA for the entire country.

EUROPEAN vs. U.S.

In Europe the situation is just the opposite. Fencing is held in higher esteem with greater participation than swimming, one of America's popular forms of recreation, she said.

Europeans hold 30-70 competitive international fencing tournaments a year, compared to only one for the United States. Lack of sufficient competitive practice with more skilled fencers keeps many an American fencer from developing greater speed and better performance, said Miss Armstrong.

Another handicap, especially for young people with small financial means, is the expense of maintaining fencing equipment. They often need subsidy from family, friends, or older fencers in order to keep up the sport.

It also takes two or three years to build up a competent team.

THREE CATEGORIES

Fencing is divided into three categories -- foil, epee, and saber. In competitive tournaments foil and epee are electric for greater accuracy in judging; saber is still non-electric.

Men may compete in all three types of fencing, but foil is the only type open competitively to women. Game for men is five touches against; for women it is four. Low score wins.

In foil, the object is to touch the opponent with the end of the sword, also called a foil, anywhere on the trunk of the body. All appendages, including head, arms, legs, and hands, are foul territory.

In epee, the whole body is fair game. In saber, the object is only from the waist up, using either point or side of the blade.

FENCING FOILS

Fencing foils (swords) are shaped differently. The foil weapon has a saucer-shaped hand guard and is the lightest; the epee foil is bowl-shaped on the handle to give the hand greater protection; and the saber foil has the typical sword handle curved at the top and coming down like a crescent moon.

In electric foil or epee an electric jacket, body cord, and reel to a box with electric light, allows the director of a match to more accurately determine hits and fouls.

Fencers must wear a white uniform that covers the whole body and a face mask made of strong metal screen. Before starting to fence, they raise the foil in front of the face and extend it outward in a salute to first the opponent, then the director, and finally the crowd. They conclude each match with a handshake.

WORD IS LAW

In fencing, the director's word is law, said Miss Armstrong. A fencer who argues about a decision after being warned is promptly penalized a point or disqualified.

"I like fencing because it teaches self-control and because it is orderly. It is also strenuous and good exercise."

On the national level, California is the strongest state in women's fencing; New York is the strongest for men. Internationally, Russia and Romania have the best fencers.

International fencing matches are conducted on a raised strip, 5 x 20 feet, commands by the director are given in French.

Of the film star fencers, who usually fence saber, Miss Armstrong felt that Errol Flynn was the most skillful and competent. Douglas Fairbanks Sr. was also a good fencer, she said. However, Douglas Fairbanks Jr. was just average, she commented.

Instructor Lauds Upland Schools

"Children are always individuals. If a teacher is going to be successful, he must realize this and try to fulfill their needs-help them reach their potential."

This is one conviction of Mrs. Charles Head, an Upland teacher and principal who has retired after 39 years of continous experience in the field of education.

Born in the town of Albert Lea, Minn., which was named for the explorer of that south central area of the state, Mrs. Head attended the State Teachers College at Mankato, Minn., and began her teaching career in 1928 in Freeborn County Rural Schools.

Of the one-room schoolhouse type of education she says, "The children had a break in one way: the younger ones had a preview of what was coming and the older ones had a review."

WORK WITH PEOPLE NOT MACHINES

This native of Albert Lea did not always want to be a teacher. "I thought I wanted to be in business. But after working for a while right out of high school in a department store, I decided I wanted to work with people instead of machines."

After teaching 12 years in Freeborn County and 10 years at Hayward, serving also as Principal, Mrs. Head came to California and began teaching in Upland School District.

Having heard that schools in the western states might not be comparable to those in the East, Mrs. Head said she had her doubts.

"But I have been pleased with the Upland district. Upland has the same philosophy of teaching the basics plus enrichment that I had been accustomed to in Minnesota, though it was different environment and the children had different backgrounds."

PRINCIPAL TAUGHT AT HER COLLEGE

Another common interest was in Jesse Jensen, principal at Sierra Vista School in Upland where Mrs. Head taught grades 3-5 over a period of seven years.

Jensen had taught at the University of Wisconsin at Eau Claire, the place where Mrs. Head received her Bachelor of Science degree in education with science and mathematics majors.

She also attended the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis, Whittier College, Claremont Graduate School where she received a Master of Arts degree in education and administration-UCLA, and UCR.

UPLAND AN IDEAL PLACE

Of the city itself, she says, "Upland is an ideal place to live and work, being a smaller community surrounded by bigger cities."

Other schools where she has taught in Upland are Upland Elementary, fourth grade for two years; and Foothill Knolls, third and first grade for a year each and principal for five years from 1963-68.

Having had a long span of teaching experience, Mrs. Head comments that today's children "are much more sophisticated and have a much broader knowledge of everything because of TV and going places with their parents. They bring a broader background with them to school."

Of today's school instruction she says there are more mechanical devices to aid teaching and more interesting books than when she first began to teach.

IMPROVED TECHNIQUES

"Teaching techniques have been improved. We try to help children discover the basic concepts and generalizations - they don't learn facts as separate entities any more."

She added that a rewarding part about teaching is "seeing a child's face light up when he discovers something.

"The emphasis on early child learning is good. Preschool instruction gets children ready for school so that they will be more successful when they actually start school."

READING HER MAIN HOBBY

Of the subjects she teaches, Mrs. Head enjoys reading best and has made the study of it her hobby. She spent her final year last year as curriculum consultant for the Upland district reading program, and also received a reading specialist certificate.

"Learning how to teach reading involves psychology and sociology," she said. "Much research is going into how children learn, and there is still no answer.

"Learning to read is a complex process. There is no one method that will teach all children to read."

She explained that learning involves a combination of sight, sound, or writing, and that it is important to attach meaning to words that are read. Some children are ready to read at an earlier age than others are.

For herself, Mrs. Head enjoys inspirational books, books on money management, Readers Digest condensed books, historical fiction, science reading, and world affairs. Her favorite magazine is "Reading Teacher" which gives up-to-date information about reading instruction.

INSTRUCTIONAL FILM

Other hobbies include raising roses and photography. The mention of photography recalled an incident in 1939 in which the University of Minnesota used the Freeborn County school where she was teaching as the subject of an instructional film.

The actual filming was done by the county superintendent of schools, showing how reading, mathematics, spelling, English, history, and nutrition could be incorporated in the teaching of a unit, which was "Teeth and Good Health."

WHITE RATS

Part of the film showed Mrs. Head's students chewing crackers to illustrate the change of starch to sugar and observing live white rats existing on either a balanced diet or on sweets.

The children finally pleaded that the rats eating sweets be given a good diet when they saw the coarseness of the rats' appearance and their vicious disposition which had once been so friendly.

Now that she is retired, Mrs. Head plans to spend more time at home with her husband of 40 years, who was formerly a Minnesota dairy farmer and inspector and is now a retired audio-visual department employee from the Ontario - Montclair School District. She may also do some substitute teaching or work in reading instruction.

FORMER PUPIL AND TEACHER -- Janet Jordahl, 19, left, is shown with Mrs. Charles (Evelyn) Head, who was her third grade teacher at Sierra Vista school from 1957-58. Mrs. Head is currently updating a word book that first and second graders refer to for correct spelling when they write stories. She is also checking to see how many of the words in the book appear in the new state readers. Janet is transferring to Cal Poly from Chaffey college as a data processing major.

Youth Reflections In Poem

This is a third of series of winning poems and essays written by St. Joseph Catholic School's students. The material was judged winners in last spring's Poetry and Essay contest, sponsored by the Court of Our Lady of Fatima #1387, Catholic Daughters of America.

PATIENCE

Waiting to speak when we want to be heard
Listening to others when they speak their word
Trying to teach those who don't understand
Are there ways in which we are patient
Greater patience than this had another man
Hindered by many men in His land

Still strove to preach and to teach and to cure
He, of course, was Christ, Our Lord.

Division II
Honorable Mention; Eileen Flinn, St. Joseph's Catholic school.

OH, WOODEN CROSS

Oh, wooden cross, how sad it
Must have been to you, to Hold the body of my Savior,
Torn and true. Who walked
That road, rocky and steep,
To be nailed to you, oh,
Cross, to die for my unworthy
Brethren and me.

Honorable Mention: Janet Rossi, St. Joseph's Upland school; Court of Our Lady of Fatima #1387.

CP Student, Father Team Up To Build Smog-Less Auto

Phillip Barrett hates smog as much as anyone. But, unlike most people, the mechanical engineering sophomore at California State Polytechnic College, isn't content to sit back and resign himself to burning eyes and wheezing lungs.

Barrett and his father, Peter A. Barrett of 297 E. Aliso ave., Pomona, have constructed a full-scale, steam-operated automobile which, for all practical purposes, is smogless.

After three years of work, the father-son team now has a vehicle that not only demonstrates the feasibility of steam power in automobiles, but is also competitive with standard automobiles in terms of power.

Unlike its defunct ancestor, the Stanley steamer, the Barrett steamer is free of boiler explosions.

"The old rumors that steam cars are not safe because of boiler explosions are completely false in our case," Phillip said.

The boiler used in Barrett's car, which converts water to steam, consists of a coil of small tubing. If a pipe were ruptured by a sudden impact, the steam would seep out like air from a punctured tire.

Water at room temperature is pumped into this boiler, where paint-thinner -- or any by-product of petroleum -- is burned to convert the water into high temperature, high-pressure steam.

The steam is sent to the engine where it is converted into mechanical power. The engine is a piston-type engine substituting steam for spark plugs.

Unlike the internal combustion engine, this engine develops high torque at a low r.p.m., eliminating the need for a transmission.

The traditionally troublesome carburetor, muffler valves, spark plugs, and breaker points are all eliminated in a steam powered engine.

From the engine, the steam -- in exhaust form -- is sent to a large radiator where it is cooled. There it is converted to water again and is drained into a tank to be reused in a continuous cycle.

The car's power plant is set at a conservative state and has the ability to travel about 45-50 m.p.h., and to start cold in about 30-45 seconds.

After more tests are run on the vehicle, Barrett can readjust the power plant to obtain more than 100 horsepower.

"The main purpose of the project is not to revolutionize the automobile industry, but to learn the principles of steam power, and with these principles design a power plant thqt will develop a desired horsepower with a minimum amount of weight," Barrett explained.

The most significant improvement of the Barrett steamer over antique models is that one had to be a steam engineer to drive the old steam cars. Barrett's vehicle is completely automatic.

The steam is controlled with a network of electro-mechanical devices that make the temperature and pressure of the steam completely trouble-free and safe.

Barrett entered his project in Cal Poly's annual Creativity Competition for engineers and came up with an award for his research.

He resides at the Pomona address with his father.

Social Security Changes Evening Office Opening

The Pomona Social Security Office is changing its evening office hours, District Manager Douglas Carter announced today.

Starting August 6, the office will be open every Wednesday until 6:30 p.m., instead of every Monday until 7:30 p.m., Carter continued.

The purpose of evening office hours is to provide those who are unable to come to the office during regular hours an opportunity to conduct their Social Security business, Carter said.

"By changing our evening office hours to Wednesday, we can continue to provide this service to our public. At the same time, we believe we can better utilize our available manpower," Carter added.

He noted that the change to Wednesday evening office hours would also bring the Pomona offices into line with the other offices in Los Angeles County.

The Pomona Social Security Office is located at 445 East Holt avenue and the telephone number is 629-4021.

Charlie Star Signed For Movie Role

Sydney Daniels, the rope-skipping Patty in "You're A Good Man Charlie Brown" at the Hollywood Ivar Theatre, has picked up her first movie role. She plays the part of a waitress in "How Did A Nice Girl Like You Get In A Business Like This?

The film will not be released for several months as additional shots are to be taken in New York and Rome. Unfortunately, Sydney's small role was completed here in Hollywood, but it is another notch in her aspiring career. Now she is hoping to be a hostess in a restaurant scene for her next possible screen gem. It's advancement she is after.

Enchanted Forest Park New Development In Mt's

Development of a complete community in the San Bernardino Mountains encompassing an area of 500 acres has been announced by Federated Mortgage Investors, a nation-wide financing institution, with headquarters in West Los Angeles.

According to Mark D. Leff, Executive Developer of the new community to be known as Enchanted Forest Park, the overall plan will involve a complete community offering all merchandising and services required for complete suburban recreation and living.

"We envision Enchanted Forest Park as filling an urgent need. We believe it will be the hub city for all residents of the San Bernardino Mountain area -- a place where all civic and household business and services can be accomplished on a one-stop basis. Enchanted Forest Park is above the smog; within 30 minutes drive of the major mountain communities and yet seldom is subjected to traffic problems caused by major snowfalls", said Leff.

"The master plan will include not only a complete shopping center but also all services normally available only in a major urban area", Leff stated.

"While we plan to maintain a semi-rural, resort atmosphere, the principal objective of the development will be to establish a permanent community offering all the facilities of a major city without the congestion or rush that accompanies a metropolis. With control of architecture and structural requirements we can achieve this objective", said the executive.

The San Bernardino Freeway and Highway 30 put Enchanted Forest Park near all major cities in the county.

Currently under development is the initial phase of the Enchanted Forest Park Community. This residential "Estates" area offers choice homesites from $4,995 to $10,995. Theese sites, wighin a 60-acre tract of the Enchanted Forest Park, are studded with tall pine trees and afford excellent views o the valley and mountains.

SWISS CASTLE . . . Fruit trees bloom in the gardens of Heidegg Castle, near Lucerne, Switzerland. This is also vineyard country and the wine from this region has gained an excellent reputation.

New Swim Pool Law Two-Fold Protection

Senator James R. Whetmore (R., Fullerton) announced that SB 285 had been signed by the Governor.

"This bill," Whetmore said, "was introduced with two purposes in mind. First, to improve the image of the swimming pool industry, and second, to give pool purchasers some protection from the few unscrupulous pool contractors presently operating in California area. complaints filed by homeowners in this area have pointed up the need for legislation to curb abuses in the sale and construction of pools.

"Investigation has revealed that in Orange County alone 544 pool purchasers have filed complaints with the state during the past three years, charging construction delays, added costs by contractors and high-pressure sales tactics.

"While these complaints amount to only a small percentage of the total pools built, Whetmore continues, "more pools are being constructed each year and discussions with the Attorney General's office and the Contractor's License Bureau pointed up the need for legislation which would be beneficial to not only the purchaser but the legitimate pool contractor as well.

"This bill," Whetmore continued, "represents a real, constructive effort on the part of the representatives of the industry the Attorney General's office and myself to aid in solving problems which some people have encountered during the past several years.

"Briefly," said Whetmore, "the bill defines swimming pool contractor and requires that every contract shall contain his name, license number and classification, and provides that all pool contracts shall be in writing, and provides a specific completion date.

"Also, it provides that every contract shall contain a plan and scale drawing and that no additional work shall be done without prior written authorization from the person contracting for the construction of the pool.

"Further, the bill requires that a copy of the contract be delivered to the purchaser at the time of signing, and that in the event of any legal action between purchaser and contractor which arise out of the contractor which arise out of the contract, attorneys' fees are to be paid by the losing party in the suit. Lastly, the provisions of the bill apply only to single-family pools not constructed concurrently with the swelling."

July Home Construction Best Of Year For SB Co.

Total building and construction volume during June in Riverside and San Bernardino counties registered the highest level of the year - $42-1 million - but remained 5.9 percent below the comparable 1968 period, it was reported by Security Pacific National Bank. Residential construction was a strong element in the two-county area during June. Both residential dollar volume and the number of dwelling units authorized were at their highest levels since August, 1965. Nonresidential building and engineering construction both recorded declines from from year-ago levels, but remained well above average levels for the first five months of 1969.

Total dollar volume reached $13.7 million, up 12.4 percent from June, 1968. The single decline in the month's building picture was in engineering construction, down more than 81 percent from June, 1968.

Homebuilding activity during June in Riverside County advanced substantially both on a month-to-month and comparative year-ago basis.

San Bernardino county recorded its most actvie month of the year in terms of building and construction volume during Total volume reached $28.4 million, of which $10.8 million was attributed to engineering construction awards. This sector's total was aided by a $2.5 million contract award for a lake and marina facility near Victorville. Permits issued for building increased for the third consecutive month, totaling $7.7 million, or 36 percent above June, 1968.

Real estate activity in the Riverside-San Bernardino two-county area during June reflected the generally improving conditions in the building industry throughout this area. Deed recordings were at their highest level since June of 1965. The number of loan recordings was at its highest mark since June, 1965, and the value of loans reached a new high for the year.

SB Co. Utilities Assessed More

San Bernardino County was notified that its privately-owned public utility property has been assessed at $289,607,510 this year for local taxation.

This compared to the 1968 total of $281,861,310 a change of $7,746,200, or 2.75%, according to the State Board of Equalization, which assesses these properties annually.

The preliminary statewide total for the 192 utilities was pegged at $4.7 billion, nearly the same as last year because of equalization, Member Richard Nevins said.

Contributing to the static total were such factors as a reduction in the assessment ratio and property transfers to public agencies.

The Board announced last September that it had embarked in 1959 on a program to reduce the assessment level gradually from 50% of market value to that of locally-assessed property--25%.

This year it dropped the percentage from 35 to 33% in following a Constitutional mandate for assessment uniformity between utility and all other property.

Utility value indicators include earnings, stock and debt values, depreciation, reproduction costs and historical costs.

The Board officially will set the assessed values on August 4.

Utilities can appeal the assessments during the first two weeks in August. Appeals will be granted or denied on or before August 18.

What To Do If You're A Victim Of Heart Attack

The San Bernardino County Heart Association says that within the next 24 hours, 4,000 to perhaps 10,000 American men and women will suffer heart attacks - their first, or a recurrence.

It's no wonder that a twinge of chest pain can trigger chilling fear.

We fear not only sudden death, but also that just one attack means an end to normal family and social life and work - a sentence to invalidism.

This fear is unjustified, as shown by the example of President Johnson and many hundreds of thousands of men and women.

Over 60 per cent of people do survive sudden, acute heart attacks. Four out of five resume normal living and return to work, although sometimes at less strenuous jobs.

And whatever we do to minimize the chances of an initial attack can stand us in good stead if trouble comes.

If you are concerned about your heart, or have chest pains or other symptoms, a checkup and frank discussion with your doctor frequently brings good news -- the pains don't involve your heart at all.

Indigestion, spasms of the esophagus, tightness of muscles from nervous tension, arthritis, gallbladder disease, or certain infections and other conditions can be responsible, exonerating your heart entirely.

With good treatment, if a heart attack does come, years of productive, happy life can lie ahead. Research is producing more refinements and techniques to increase the ratio of good recoveries.

The road back to health can follow various byways, suited to the individual case, but some general guidelines apply to most patients.

COMPLETE REST

Complete and total rest in bed is the first immediate rule, to take all unnecessary burdens from the stricken heart.

HEART NEEDS TIME

Just like an injured muscle, the heart needs time to repair itself. With time, other arteries can distribute nourishment to the affected area.

Most heart specialists immediately put patients on a low-calorie diet, since excessive eating and weight add to the heart's task. If serum cholesterol is high, the physician will most likely prescribe a diet to bring it down.

He most likely will say no smoking, or no cigarettes.

And most specialists prescribe suitable exercise and activity after the heart has recovered. The man doing physical work is frequently back at his old job, as is the businessman, the lawyer, newspaperman, or salesman.

In general, the rules for recovery and avoidance of a second attack will embrace most if not all the elements of the mode of life, described in preceding releases, aimed at reducing the chances of ever suffering any premature attack at all.

TALK TO DOCTOR

Every patient should talk frankly with his doctor about his progress, his prospects, the date when he can go back to work, and resume hobbies or sports, or sex relations. Anything puzzling or bothersome should be brought into the open.

Hundreds of thousands of heart patients attest the answer, a hopeful "NO!" They live out normal lifespans. It's not uncommon for a man of 60 at the time of his first attack to live to 80 or 90.

The heart patient, through the way he lives, plays an active role in the effort to ward off repeat attacks. As yet there is no safe, proven drug that will cut down blood cholesterol, or really prevent heart attacks.

The Sisters of Charity in the United States was founded in Baltimore, Maryland, by Elizabeth A.B. Seton in 1813.

Health Sanitarian Protects Public

By Marietta Deming
Graduate Public Health Student
Loma Linda University

You probably have never met Harold Colter, R. S., and very likely you never will, but he helps to make your life safe and healthy. Harold is a Public Health Sanitarian at the San Bernardino County West End Health Center in Ontario. What does he do?

When you eat out in a restaurant or drive-in, do you ever worry if the food will make you ill? Probably not, partially because of what Harold is doing in his job.

His objective is to inspect every restaurant, bar, tavern, and drive-in in Cucamonga, Alta Loma, and the east side of Upland four times a year. In this inspection Harold sees that the equipment is kept up and is working properly. He sees that the refrigerator is cold enough to keep food from spoilage.

Also, he checks the temperature and efficiency of the dish-washing. It must be hot enough to kill the harmful germs on the dishes. The kitchen and serving areas are carefully looked over to see that they are cleaned regularly and that utensils are clean and in proper repair; not misused, such as using a glass as an ice scoop. Another area that comes under the eye of the sanitarian is the garbage cans. They must be clean and have lids that fit securely.

RECEIVES "A AWARD"

A restaurant that scores high on the inspection receives an "A AWARD" from the San Bernardino County Public Health Department. This award is displayed in a prominent location of the restaurant, usually this is the window. When you see this blue "A AWARD" displayed in a restaurant, you can be sure that this restaurant is concerned about giving you clean, safe food.

But Harold does more than inspect restaurants. All stores that sell food must be under a permit from the public health department. This involves an inspection by the sanitarian. He sees that the food is handled and stored under sanitary conditions.

The ice cream truck that tinkles down your street in the summer, and the catering truck that stops at new construction sites both must have approval by the public health department.

The infrequent outbreaks of food poisonings are investigated by your sanitarian. He contacts every person involved in the outbreak and attempts to determine the cause of the outbreak.

Foster homes for retarded children, mentally ill and aged persons are checked to see that there is enough bed space; also, that the home is generally safe and clean.

INVESTIGATES COMPLAINTS

Another activity that takes much of your sanitarian's time is investigating complaints called into the public health department. These include such things as overflowing septic tanks, animals stabled too close to homes, open garbage dumps and other public health nuisances.

At regular intervals, varying from once a week to once a month, Harold takes samples of the water systems. This includes all systems serving more than one home. These samples are checked to see that the water is bacterialogically safe and that foreign matter is not present.

Do you swim in public pools? or perhaps the one at your apartment? These too are inspected by Harold. He looks for safety equipment, whether there is a life ring, also instructions on artificial respiration. He checks the pool water for disinfectant content and acidity.

These are some of the major ways that Harold works for you as a sanitarian with your local public health department. He is well qualified for his position. To become a sanitarian, one must have a college degree with a major in a science area, then after one year of working as an assistant or after several hours of graduate classes in public health, one may take the examination for Registered Sanitarian.

You can help Harold in his work of protecting your health by patronizing the restaurants that care--the ones that display the San Bernardino County "A AWARD."

A - RESTAURANTS -- Harold Coulter, county sanitarian, stands in the center of a big A, which denotes an A-rating for the restaurants shown in the Upland-Cucamonga area. The establishments must meet sanitation requirements in order to be given an A rating.

THIS IS WORK? -- Tom Barth, stunt man for the FBI series, made a routine jump from one building to another and then hung by his fingertips. After the cameras recorded the fall -- his death scene -- he fell to a foam rubber mattress below. It was a dramatic sight to the crowd watching below, but all in a day's work for him. In the fall, he scraped his wrist and the company doctor patched him up. For his jump, he got $400. Barth was part of a crew of 60 who were in Upland Monday with the star Efrem Zimbalist Jr., filming the outdoor scenes to "The Designate." It will be shown in November.

CANDLE HOLDERS AND NITE LIGHTS

Cans, being metal, are natural for fashioning into Nite Lites and candle holders.

Nite Lite—(Fig. 1) Draw line with grease pencil around Canada Dry can, 2 in. from bottom. Punch neat pattern of holes around can in area below line. Use nail punch. Cut around can, along penciled line. Use rip can opener. Paint with enamel or lacquer. Insert vigil candle that comes set in small, colored glass.

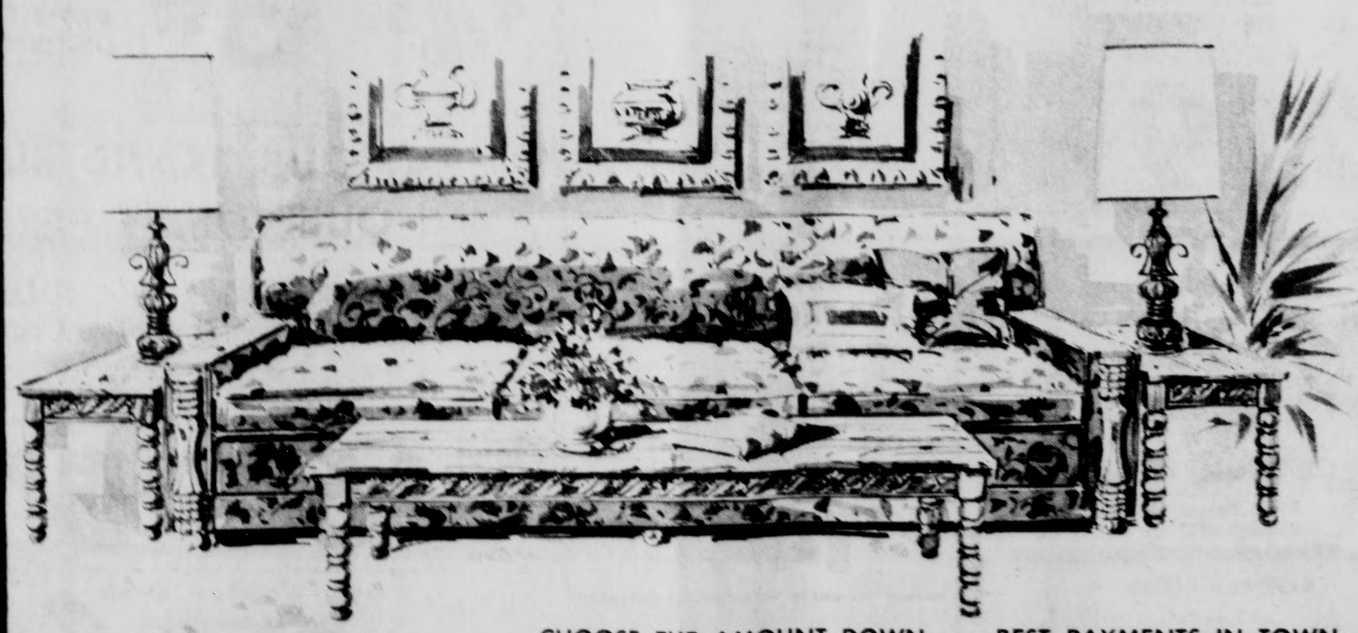

Lite Or Holder—(Fig. 2) This can serve either purpose. It all depends on size of candle. Draw line with grease pencil around can, 1 in. from top. At different heights below line, punch several holes as shown, about 1¼ in. apart. Cut around can, along penciled line, using rip can opener. With shears, cut from top down to each hole. Between each of these cuts, now make two one-inch cuts. Using pliers curl each strip around and under as shown. Paint.

No Power Problems

Despite the extended heat wave through most of California, with resulting electrical loads at or near record levels, electric utilities in the state are continuing to provide service to their customers without incident or problems, Southern California Edison Company reported today.

Edison Vice President Robert T. Coe said the "electrial loads are not higher than we anticipated, and our practice of maintaining substantial operating reserves is expected to provide an adequate margin of safety for even larger load increases, should the hot weather continue."

As an example of the strength of the California utilities in using their reserve capacities to handle the unexpected, Coe cited an incident which occurred last Thursday (July 17) in the Pacific Northwest.

"At that time, 2:50p.m., approximately 1,400,000 kilowatts of power was coming into California over the Pacific Northwest-Southwest Power to Intertie," he said. "Specifically, 1,300,000 kw - enough power to serve nearly 2 million people- was being delivered to the Southland when trouble in the Pacific Northwest abruptly caused an interruption on the two 500,000-volt transmission lines of the intertie.

"This was more than the amount of generation which initiated the famous Northeast blackout of 1965," Coe pointed out, "yet no customer service was interrupted in California from last Thursday's incident."

Furthermore, he noted utility system frequencies and voltages from the occurrence were all normal within four minutes.

Coe said there have been several similar incidents in recent months in which large amounts of power generation were were lost to the interconnected western power systems, but with little or no adverse effect on California electric customers.

"Usually no one except the power system operators is even aware of these system incidents," Coe said.

CP Grad, Wife Find Satisfaction In Peace Corps In El Progresso

El Progreso is the name of the Honduran town where Vicente Morabito is working, and "el progreso" -- progress -- is exactly what he is making as a Peace Corps Volungeer.

The 1966 animal science graduate of California State Polytechnic college, Pomona has served in the northern coastal region of the small Central American country for 18 months. But he and his wife Jan, also a Cal Poly graduate, find their work so rewarding that they plan to stay for another year.

Morabito is the head of the Central de Servicios Agricolas, a co-op which deals with the "campesinos" or poor farmers in the area.

"My major in school was animal science," he said, "but you'd be surprised how much I have learned while here as an agronomist.

"Right now we have corn, fertilizer, tobacco, selected seed, bananas, rice, watermelon, and pig projects going," he said.

The Peace Corps staffs the office in which Morabito works. A Pennsylvania State university agronomist is in charge of the program's two tractors, and Morabito's wife is the secretary and accountant.

"Our work deals mainly in extension work -- going out to the campesino and working out his problem where it exists," he explained. "And, believe it or not, it's a real chore to get the campesinos to plow their land.

"I don't want to make this sound romantic," he said, "We have every imaginable force working against us -- malnutrition to slow down the minds of the people, problems with big land owners and the government, and the vast poverty that faces us every day."

The program needs more help in the form of volunteers, Morabito explains. Most welcome are graduates with degrees in business management, agriculture, or liberal arts.

Training for the next program will begin in January or February. Applications should be submitted about nine months prior to availability and applicants should specify Honduras as their desire.

Morabito is anxious to answer questions about the co-op program. His address is Cuerpo de Paz, Progreso Yoro; Honduras, Central America.

Morabito is a graduate of San Pedro high school.

Japan Grocers, Calif. Owners Set Conference

Ninety-six representatives from 51 Japanese retail grocery companies will attend a five-day conference at California State Polytechnic College Pomona August 18 - 22. The conference is being co-sponsored by the Japan Self-Service Association, Inc., of Tokyo, Japan, and Cal Poly's department of Agricultural Business Management (ABM).

According to Milo G. Lacy, ABM professor, the group of businessmen consists of store managers, directors, buyers, merchandising agents, owners, and department managers from retail grocery companies located in 38 cities and towns of Japan. Two members of the Tokyo press and six guides and interpreters will accompany the men.

Dr. John B. O'Hara, Cal Poly director of continuing education, said the Japanese retailers will participate in seminar discussions and field trips to wholesale distribution centers, supermarkets and shopping centers.

Seminar discussions will deal with chain store organization and development, store operation analysis, merchandising to increase profit, inventory control and computer control of inventory, distribution of employe time, coordination and communication between departments, and the duties and responsibilities common to employe positions.

Conference programs will be provided by Sunkist Growers; Certified Grocers of California, Ltd.; Von's Grocery Company; Shopping Bag Food Stores; Darley-Gobar Associates; Alpha Beta/Acme Markets, Inc.; Crawford Stores, Inc.; Mayfair Markets; and Hughes Markets.

While in California the retailers will visit the business section of downtown Los Angeles, Little Tokyo, Olvera street and Disneyland. They will travel from Pomona to San Francisco and on to Honolulu for a day's vacation before returning to Tokyo.

PLASTICS INJECTION MOLDING MACHINE -- Mt. San Antonio college's apprentice and trades training program got a big boost recently when Neward Die & Mfg. Co. presented the college with Lewis Injection Molding machine. Dr. Oscar H. Edinger Jr. (right), former college president, accepts the gift on behalf of the college from Neward's president, Ted Neward. Charles Booth, dean of the apprentice and trades training programs, said the machine was a much needed addition to the college's training equipment. With the increased interest in the fast-growing plastics industry, and the extension of the college's trades programs to incorporate such training, the machine, Booth said, is an invaluable asset to the regular course. MSAC will initiate its new Plastics Technology program this fall semester, having completed its pilot program in the field last Spring. A sequence of new courses, including labs to provide actual experience on the machine, will be offered by the department when classes open Sept. 16.

Gonorrhea,— Calif. Major Health Menace

Q. How serious is the problem of gonorrhea in California?

A. This venereal infection is increasing at an alarming rate. In only a single year-between 1967-and 1968-the number of cases reported in California rose from 61,000 to 76,000. Only ten years before-in 1957-the number of reported cases was relatively low: 15,679. On the basis of the 1968 figures, we can assume that out of every 1,000 persons in the state, at least three are infected with gonorrhea each year. In actual fact, the ratio is probably even higher than that, since it is believed that less than one in ten cases is reported. Gonorrhea can realistically be considered the states major public health menace. It shows up much more frequently than any of the other communicable diseases which are reportable to public health authorities. For example, compared with the 76,000 cases of gonorrhea reported in 1968, there were 18,000 cases of mumps; 11,000 cases of syphilis, the other major venereal disease; and 5,000 cases of German measles (rubella.)

Q. Who are the victims of this widespread disease?

A. Anyone and everyone. It strikes persons of all ages, all classes, all races. Infection is transmitted almost exclusively by sexual contact. A marital partner may be infected by a spouse who is unaware of the infection or has been inadequately treated. More than half of the reported cases are young persons under 25 years of age -- and several hundred are actually between the ages of 10 and 14. Health authorities conservatively estimate that one in ten Californians between the ages of 15 and 25 will have gonorrhea this year. The concentration of this disease among young persons is particularly tragic because one of the complications of untreated gonorrhea is sterility. Teenagers with the infection often do not understand the meaning of its symptoms and accordingly do not get treatment; if they do understand that they have gonorrhea, they may be too frightened to consult their parents or other adults who might help.

Q. What are the symptoms of gonorrhea?

A. In the male patient, the infection is easy to detect. There may be a discharge from the penis, or inflammation of the urethra and discomfort during urination. In the female patient, the initial inflammation may be mild and of short duration, without any symptoms. She may or may not have a discharge and often the infection spreads to her entire reproductive system before she becomes aware that she has gonorrhea. In the course of the spread of the disease, she may unknowingly infect her sexual partners. Rectal infection rarely presents symptoms and is often undetected.

Q. How is gonorrhea treated?

A. It is treated by penicillin or, for those trains resistant to penicillin, by some other appropriate antibiotic, either given by injection or taken by mouth. Some strains of gonorrhea are more resistant than others and for these, increased dosage or longer treatment is required. Only a doctor can decide what dosage is required for the individual patient and how many times it must be repeated.

Q. Does this treatment really cure the disease?

A. Yes, without doubt. But the patient must follow instructions to the last letter. Inadequate treatment may result in only partial cure and the possibility of chronic disease. In other words, it isn't the medication that fails, but the patient. For example, although the symptoms may clear up within a few days after treatment, the patient may be told to drink no alcohol for a week. If he doesn't follow this instruction, he doesn't get the full benefit of the medication. He will be told not to have sexual intercourse for at least 10 days. If he disobeys, he may get re-infected or spread his disease to someone else.

Among patients who are instructed to take their medication orally, there is always added risk of "patient failure". The patient may carelessly skip one dose, may stop before he has taken the full amount prescribed, or may share his medication with friends or with his sexual partner whose infection may not have been reported. In such cases, the patient gets less medication than he needs and his infection may reappear.

Q. Fundamentally, what is needed is a drastic menace?

A. Fundamentally, what is needed is a drastic change of attitude. The patient must view it not as a private matter but as a matter of public concern. He must realize that his doctor is legally required to report all cases of gonorrhea to public health authorities. He should also be reassured by the knowledge that the record of his infection will be considered entirely confidential by these public health officials. Finally, the infected person must cooperate willingly and fully with public health authorities in giving them names of his contacts - that is, the persons from whom he may have caught the disease. The purpose of naming the possible source of infection is to protect, not to embarass nor to punish. Most young people who infect others with gonorrhea do not know that they themselves have the disease. Public health workers, who have been given their names, seek them out, tell them they may be infected, and help them to get prompt treatment, which is so necessary for their own health.

The naming of names is often the most difficult step of all, because it reveals information which has traditionally been considered highly personal. But one must remember that this confidential information is used only by trained public health personnel solely for the purpose of stopping this dread disease by getting all infected persons cured. Only by making it possible for public health staff to follow up all sources of gonorrhea can the alarming cycle of infection and re-infection be broken.

Girls! Cal Poly Is Your Spot For Abundant Males

The odds are in favor of the females if it's matrimony they're after at California State Polytechnic College, Kellogg-Voorhis, Pomona--but hunting prospects are extremely poor for the men.

The male at Cal Poly would be entitled to only two-fifths of a girl if the female population was distributed evenly, a survey by Dean of Students Henry House showed recently.

The male population at Poly rose to 5,118, giving the men this 5:2 edge over their female counterparts.

There were 1,898 coeds at Cal Poly in 1968, representing only 27 per cent of the total campus population.

House's student profile, which required more than a month to compile, dealt with a 10-year period from 1958-68, with specific comparisons being made among the years 1958, 1963, and 1968.

The report was presented at a meeting of the College's Executive Council.

Other parts of House's study showed that of the 1,470 transfer students in 1968, 947--or 64.4 per cent--were from junior colleges.

Most of the junior college transfer students--26.5 per cent--came from Mt. San Antonio College.

Mt. SAC, Chaffey College, and San Bernardino Valley College, contributed 53.2 per cent of the total JC transfers.

Students have received increased aid from the college over the 10-year period. The average student loan increased from $37 in 1958 to $298 in 1968.

This increase reflects the inflation of student costs, according to House.

A survey of editorial topics in the campus newspaper, The Poly Post, indicated that student interests have changed little over the 10-year span.

The administration, Associated Students, Inc., student apathy, athletic concern, and Rose Float, reappeared as editorial matter throughout the 10 years.

Two Girl Scout Workshops Set At Chaffey Scout House

Approximately forty Junior, Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts of the Spanish Trails Council plan to attend a Studio Workshop at the Chaffey Scout House in Upland.

The specialized day camp, held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. from August 5 through 7 and 11 through 14, will offer experiences in many aspects of the arts.

Highlights of the program include two field trips, one to Japanese Village and Deer Park in Buena Park on August 7, where they will observe Japanese dancing and a tea ceremony firsthand, on August 7, and another to the Gallery Theater in Upland the evening of August 14 to view "South Pacific".

An open house for parents and friends of the girls will be held from 2-3 p.m. the last day of camp.

Staff members include:

Core Staff: Director, Mrs. Duncan Chin, Ontario; Business Manager, Mrs. Edward A. Girard Jr., Upland; Shopper, Mrs. Richard Bales, Ontario; Health Supervisor, Mrs. Harold Foster, Ontario.

Unit Staff: Cadette Unit Leader, Mrs. Thomas Davis, Upland; Cadette Assistant Leader, Miss Linda Thornton, Ontario; Jr. Unit Leader, Mrs. Darrel Alford, Ontario; Jr. Assistant Leader, Mrs. Robert Franklin, Ontario.

Robert Lawrence, Fullerton; Wood Carving, Mrs. Robert Franklin, Ontario; Balloon Casting, Mrs. Thomas Davis, Upland; Cake Decorating, Mrs. Al Twitchell, Upland; Drape Doll, Mrs. Paul Munoz, Ontario.

Senior Program Aides: Miss Ann Sullivan and Miss Gail Rogers, both of Troop 1080, Ontario.

Accent On Homes

By Marjorie Marsh

Your traveling friend Marjorie recently went to New Orleans for the big, annual conference of the National Home Fashions League. They're a professional group of hundreds of women who work in my wonderful world of home furnishings.

There were meetings and lively seminars, one of which I'm sure that those of us who attended will never forget. The subject was discrimination against women in business. As the audience was made up of all women (plus two stray males) you can imagine how the three-man panel had its back against the wall!

New Wool Carpet Shown

I also went to a lovely reception for that pretty "Gambol" Woolmark carpet I first spotted at the furniture showings this spring. And how the interior designers and "communicators" of the NHFL loved it.

Everyone agreed that this new method of manufacturing has produced a yummy carpet that will make every owner feel like a movie star. When I was chatting with the host, he told me that "Gambol" is being used wall-to-wall in bedrooms where its fleecy, furry look goes so well with modern or rattan furniture. And since the wool carpet is a 'look-alike' for Greek Flokatis, it's "gamboling" into living rooms as area rugs.

Airway Users Will Pay For 'Port Improvements

Our Man In Washington

By BILL KENNEDY
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON -- President Nixon's proposed multi-billion dollar airport-airways program has been met by general approval and is expected to be enacted by Congress this session.

Last month the president asked Congress to approve a $5 billion program to improve the nation's airports and airways control systems over the next 10 years. The states and local governments would put up half the money on a matching fund basis.

A number of congressmen and senators, from both large and small states have praised the program, and the bill, after hearings was expected to encounter little opposition.

To pay for the program, Nixon has proposed increased and new taxes on airways users. Most congressmen say the states and local communities probably will have to float revenue bonds to match the federal funds -- a payment method that puts no additional burden on property taxpayers.

Bill Kennedy

AIR TAXES

Specifically, the Nixon proposal calls for an increase from 5 to 8 per cent the tax on domestic-flight tickets, a new $3 tax on most international flights originating in the U.S., a 5 per cent tax on air freight waybills, and an increase from 2 to 9 cents a gallon on fuels used by private and general aviation, but exempting airlines.

This money would go into a trust fund, be apportioned to the states who in turn would allot the money to local areas.

This would be a similar setup to that of the highway users trust funds, and the money could be apportioned to the states each year without calling for Congressional approval.

The federal program calls for spending $180 million this fiscal year, and $220 million next fiscal year for airways facilities and equipment.

HELP SMALL CITIES

Congressmen say the program could be of tremendous help in communities such as Fort Smith, Ark., Las Vegas and Reno, Nev., Ontario, Calif., Hilo, Hawaii, and numerous smaller city airports throughout the nation.

The main bill designed to accomplish the Nixon proposals is being handled by Sen Warren Magnuson of Washington -- a bill inherited from former Sen. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma.

Earlier this month, the Aviation Subcommittee of the Interior Committee, under Magnuson's chairmanship, held hearings on the bill, and more are scheduled the week of July 21.

The bill, known as the Airport-Airways Act of 1969, should come before the full Interior Committee later this month and reach the Senate floor before the summer recess August 13.

Senate sources are predicting passage by the whole Congress, and funding, sometime this fall.

Wine Judging For L.A. Fair August 13-14

POMONA-It's the only major wine judging contest in the country!

A near-record number of fine California wines--six hundred in all--will test the talents of expert wine tasters August 13 and 14 when judging starts at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds.

Forty-two of California's leading wine makers vie for coveted gold, silver and bronze awards.

The prize winning wines will stay on exhibition in the Agricultural Building at the fairgrounds during the exposition's 17-day run from Sept. 12 through Sept. 28. Dessert wines and brandies; champagnes and sparkling wines; red and white table wines; aperitifs and special division wines (those bottled in large quantities) will be displayed.

"We feel this year's contest, with a number of new wineries entered, should be one of the finest ever held at the Fair," said wine chairman Nathan Chroman.

Objectives of the Fair judging include encouraging the continuing improvement of California wines and to make known the reputation of the State as a quality wine producing area.

Chief factors looked for by the judges are color, character, bouquet and taste.

ITEM: Non-woven carpets are made by a felting process using for the most part polypropylene olefin fibers. Both the fiber and the method of production are relatively inexpensive, resulting in a less expensive type of carpeting that is widely advertised for both indoor and outdoor use.

POMONA - Girl Scout Councils of Los Angeles County have entered the Junior Fair of the Los Angeles County Fair.

The theme of their 1969 booth will be "Values To Hold - - Worlds To Explore" and will depict the countries that have a Girl Scout or Girl Guide Program. There are 43 member countries in the World Association and 38 associate member countries.

A large papier mache globe five feet in diameter, will center the booth. Encircling the globe will be figures, three to four feet in height, dressed in Girl Scout uniforms of the 43 countries. Set among the figures will be flags of the countries being represented. The colorful flags will be made by Girl Scout troops.

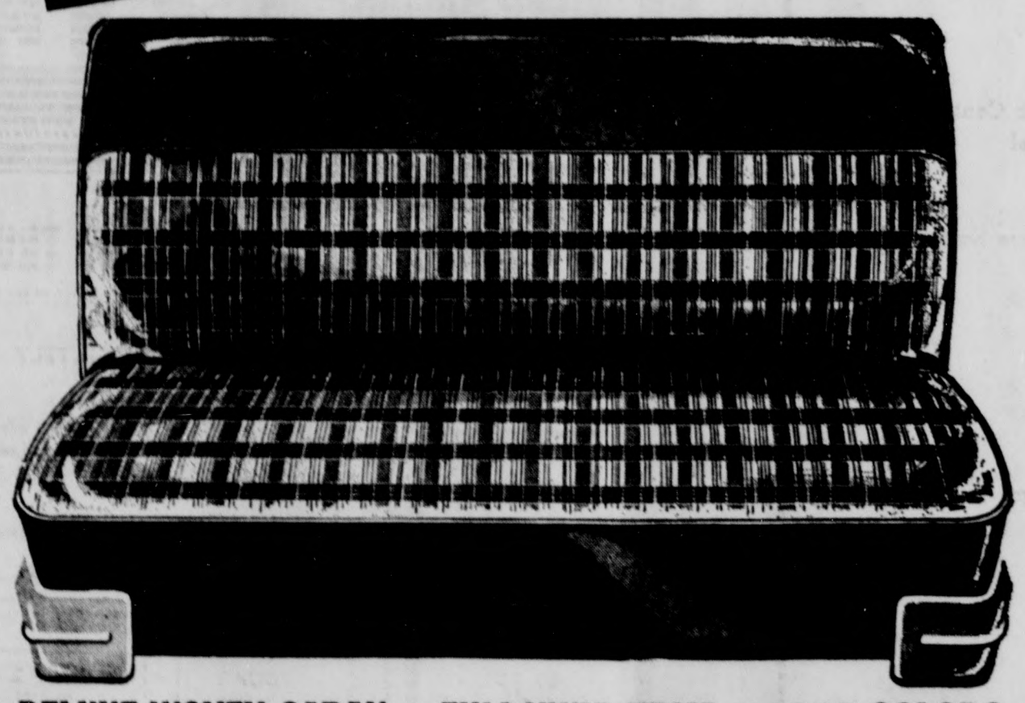

On the back of the booth will be mannikins wearing the uniforms of the Girl Scouts of the USA ---Brownie, Junior, Cadette, Senior and Adult.

The booth is sponsored by five Girl Scout councils - - Los Angeles, greater Long Beach, Sierra Madres, San Fernando Valley, and Spanish Trails Girl Scout troop of Pomona.

The Fair will hold its annual 17-day run from Sept. 12 through Sept. 28.

Women Internationally Enjoy New Pat Walker Figures

IN MONTCLAIR! OPENING THIS WEEK! 5033 SOUTH PLAZA LANE, MONTCLAIR PLAZA

—Miss Dorothy Rooney, Cremorne, Australia

The Pat Walker treatment is so private and pleasant. Everyone at the Salon is friendly and interested. I feel I cannot lose anything but more unwanted inches.

I am so grateful to Pat Walker for bringing to Australia a reducing program that really works. I have already lost 11 pounds and 22½ inches overall.

The way these treatments have helped me reduce is proof positive that any woman who uses Pat Walker's marvelous program will be pleasantly surprised by the wonderful results.

—Mrs. Ethel Moak, Long Beach

I would like to say that the most thrilling moment of my life was the day I walked into Pat Walker's Reducing Salon and heard the words I had wanted to hear, that I could and would have a slim, youthful figure again.

I was 35 inches around my waist. I would shun scales, also when I passed a mirror I would look the other way.

My dress size at the start was size 18. Now I wear size 12. I can say now, I'm one of the happiest women in the world.

—Mrs. Marilyn Hamman, Pasadena, Salon

For the last seventeen years or so I've had a problem taking off inches and shedding weight.

As a result nothing would be permanent. Dieting splurges result in only temporary weight loss, so I knew I had to do something which would be satisfying and permanent.

The Pat Walker Program of reducing is so relaxing and sensible. Reducing is made easier than ever.

I fully recommend this program for any woman that would like to be down to her perfect dress size.

—Mrs. Flora B. Landers, Pasadena

I had gained so much weight that I had to wear a size 16 dress and became much to heavy for my build and felt so matronly.

I now wear a size 10 dress and have just remarried and have a very admiring husband.

We spent our honeymoon in Hawaii where I really enjoyed wearing a bathing suit again. I can't say enough for the Pat Walker Program.

—Mrs. Helen Roberts, Los Angeles

I had no pep or energy. I even hated to shop for a new dress; I was so ashamed of my size 20½. I had gotten to the point where I felt nothing would work.

With the Pat Walker Program I have reduced to 123 pounds and to a size 10 dress, and am still losing inches.

I can't praise Pat Walker enough, as I give her credit for my slender figure and I have a whole new outlook on life.

When I was obese, men wouldn't look at me. Now I have no problems. I have never felt better and now enjoy a good social life.

—Mrs. Pat Hanson, Reseda

It's been just great! Your new computer program is marvelous because you take your treatments in the privacy of individual rooms without being disturbed until your treatment is completed.

I can tell you that my husband is really proud of me! He is always complimenting me now, which he never did before and I really can't blame him for not doing so in the past.

Although I am only 5 feet, 2 inches, I was 136 lbs. and wore a tight size 12. Now I wear a loose size 5 and am still slimming down. Thanks so much, Pat Walker, for your marvelous program. I couldn't have done it without your help!

—Mrs. Ira C. MacDonald, Long Beach

The morning I stepped on the scales to check my weight, it was a shock to see the dial stop at 216 lbs. Enough of a shock to bring me to my senses and decide to do something about my weight NOW, not LATER.

I decided, then was the time for professional help. I had been reading your advertisements for several months, and was hopeful that you could do for me what you had done for so many other overweight women.

My weight is down to 146 lbs. and last week I bought a size 14½ dress instead of a size 24½.

PAT WALKER FIGURES IN OVER 5 MILLION SUCCESS STORIES

from an article by a California Fashion Editor

It was half way around the world . . . a mere dot of an island in the South Pacific. The plane circled, roared down the runway, then thundered to a stop.

"We have landed in Pago Pago," the stewardess announced. "We will be here 30 minutes for refueling."

Throngs of native well-wishers swarmed around the plane . . . AND around a muu muu-clad wahine, who seemingly, immobilized by her own bulk, withstood their thrust like an immovable fortress. THEN she spotted the familier figure of a strikingly attractive brunette passenger.

"It's Pat Walker!" exclaimed the islander, bulldozing her 300 pounds toward the internationally known figure authority.

"Have you come to open a salon here . . . ?" she asked excitedly, explaining in a mixture of native dialect and broken English, "We read every about you in the papers" — newspapers discarded by the airlines—and about all those ladies you make so beautiful and thin.

"See," she said slapping her bulging torso for emphasis. "See, we need you here!"

It's that need—whether the locale be Park Avenue or Pago Pago—that has made Pat Walker undisputed heroine of every woman's Battle of the Bulge.

Today, the story of her success is measured on an international scale, figuring in headlines from the top of the world to Down Under.

One U.S. columnist recently wrote: "She's out to reshape the world with her revolutionary computerized equipment" . . . a metropolitan newspaper in Australia identifies her editorially as "the world's foremost figure authority" . . . and because she jets halfway around the world at least twice a month, flight personnel of Pan American Airlines calls her "the flying Irishman." One of the latest stars in her international crown: she served as an official judge in Long Beach's International Beauty Contest last April.

A celebrated nightclub performer in Hawaii refers to her as "the skinny maker" . . . and a British opera singer, who flew from London to take treatments at the Pat Walker salon in Sydney, Australia, is still singing her praises. The singer had been told that before she could audition for an important role on the London stage, she would have to lose weight — a great deal of weight. She did — and won the role!

OVER 5 MILLION SUCCESS STORIES

The London opera singer is just one in a million success stories in Pat Walker's career. Correction: millions of success stories!

Already the 5-foot-3, 101-pound Irish human dynamo has pared down and redistributed the dimensions of more than five million women in her fast-growing chain of reducing salons.

Coming from all walks of life, her patrons have ranged in age from 7 to 94. Some have lost more than 100 pounds. Among them have been celebrities and sales clerks, models and machine operators, professional women and waitresses, airline stewardesses, housewives, teenagers and grandmothers.

Her files bulge with the names of satisfied customers and with success stories of marriage that seemed destined for the rocks, but were saved . . . of stars who made comebacks with new box office figures . . . of senior citizens who rediscovered their zest for living . . . of career women and housewives who regained their pride and self-confidence, their marital happiness and/or job status.

Pat Walker's fleet of salons currently stretches half way around the world (Australia, Hawaii, Southern California) and all are running at full capacity.

Coming soon: equally swank salons in Mexico City and the Brentwood - Santa Monica area. Also on the drawing boards are salons for New York City, London, paris, New Zeland, Washington, D.C., Hong Kong and Tokyo.

NEW COMPUTERIZED EQUIPMENT

All Salons are equipped with the firm's new all-computerized units which take all the guesswork out of reducing and figure correction. The precision equipment was developed and researched by Pat Walker and Company.

"There is no other equipment and reducing program like it anywhere in the world, she notes with authority. Ours is the only computerized program and reducing equipment in existance that has been scientifically researched and developed."

Back in the days when Pat Walker opened her first salon, a single treatment required 50 minutes — and patrons were shuffled from one piece of equipment to another, five in all! The new computerized program—each treatment now requiring only 30 relaxed minutes without disrobing — is accomplished more effectively on just ONE piece of equipment.

Pampered by luxurious surroundings, individual privacy and courteous attendants, lulled into complete relaxation by piped-in music, the patron can—and usually does—drift off into detached contentment while the unit goes to work on fatty tissue, muscle toning, circulation, posture correction AND those forgotten areas that haven't flexed a muscle for months—perhaps years.

INDIVIDUAL PROGRAMMING

What makes the BIG difference is that each woman's figure correction is programmed individually ("no two women are alike") to correct HER specific figure faults: dowager hump, large hips and thighs, protruding adbomen, thickening shoulders, flabby tissues . . . whatever.

What are the most common figure faults? Hips and thighs.

The ideal female dimensions: "There are none," says Miss Walker. "Ideal measurements are purely personal — depending on bone structure, height and weight distribution. A woman can weigh 125 pounds and have a perfect figure — one that is right for her. On the other hand, 110 pounds and 36-24-34 dimensions can add up to a bad figure if they're not ideal for the woman's wearing them. (How unlucky can a gal be!)

It grieves her that many here - today, gone - tomorrow reducing salons "guarantee" to trim a woman — whom they haven't even seen! — from size 18 or 20 to size 10 overnight. They make the promise, completely disregarding her bone structure.

"It's utterly unrealistic," the world-renowned figure expert contends. "If a woman has a size 10, 12 or size 14 bone structure, that is her perfect size. After all, beauty contests are judged on perfect proportions—not on size. It's as simple as that. We reduce women to their bone structure and perfect dress size."

THE WEIGHT PROBLEM

Obesity, she concludes, is one of modern woman's weightest problems — often causing loss of home, prestige, employment and social status.

The problem most often mentioned in her barrage of letters?

"MARITAL . . . and spell that with capital letters," she says, noting that the incidence of obesity is greater among housewives than any other group . . . "often because they're so busy raising the family, they forget to look in the mirror." Her firm belief "if a woman would take as much pride in how she looks at home as at a cocktail party, the divorce courts wouldn't be so crowded."

MORE ABOUT DRESS:

"I finally disapprove of the girdled look—both from the appearance it creates (men hate it!) and because of the tendency to cause flabbiness. Women should not depend on foundations to hold them in. That's what muscles are supposed to do."

"Buying clothes to camouflage a bad figure is a waste of time and money. The most expensive costume is overshadowed by a bulging, bad figure. It's more economical to be thin."

—Mrs. Pauline G. Morton, Orange County

I never thought I would ever see the day that I would be one of the women I've read about in the Pat Walker advertisements. It was a wonderful experience that I shall never forget. I must admit that I never really believed the advertisements, until now, and I can say that the Pat Walker Figure Perfection Salons' advertisements are for real.

Now that my dream of being slim is no longer a dream, Ihope my being in the "Before and After" advertisement will help other women to realize that with the Pat Walker reducing program, dreams do come true.

—Mrs. Doris Fernandez, Los Angeles

Sympathetic with my unsuccessful attempts to lose weight on my own, my husband finally told me, "Go see if Pat Walker can back up all that advertising!"

It was a case of buying a whole new wardrobe, size 18, or reducing to buy me back into my size 16's. And maybe, if I was real lucky, into a couple of 14's I had so hopefully clung to.

That part didn't quite work out. I quickly bypassed the 16's, the 14's had to be greatly altered and I still have to buy a whole new wardrobe, now size 12.

—Mrs. Jeanne Crawford, Whittier

Mrs. Jeanne Crawford, of Whittier, was a 205-pound size 24½. Mrs. Crawford was born in Paris and was an Opera Singer.

When she got married she weighed 103 pounds, but over the years she became excessively overweight. When being photographed she used her Poodle to try to hide her bulky figure.

In the photograph with Miss Pat Walker Mrs. Crawford is wearing a size 14 dress and she is still going down.

—Del Cartwright, Sydney, Australia

I have a TV programme in Sydney and write the "Dear Del" column in the newspapers. Recently I started to be concious of my hips and the tops of my legs. Everything I eat seems to go to the same place, which—well, you know.

Reducing at Pat Walker's is done without guesswork and in the salon's luxurious atmosphere. You can be lazy, pampered and reduce and you'll see the results after three treatments.

—Mrs. Dorothy Foust, Reseda

Over the years Mrs. Dorothy Foust had tried all kinds of diet, diet pills, and exercises only to lose 10 or 15 pounds and gain it right back. For months her husband had encouraged her to come to us to see if we could help her, but she found many excuses for not coming.

However, when the scales went to 205 pounds, she decided she was desperate and would have to call us, which she did.

Her husband tells her she is "a new you" and her children tease her and call her "skinny." She says it is music to her ears.

—Mary Van Hooser, Lakewood

I am delighted with the results of my reducing since I started at your Figure Perfection Salon. To just lay on the couch, relax and watch the pounds melt away and the inches disappear is sheer joy.

I have reduced from a size 18½ to a size 14 and am still going down. My weight has changed from 169 to 138 pounds and I have lost 44½ inches overall so far.

I highly recommend your program for anyone interested in a new and lovelier figure and am truly glad I had my figure analysis and treatments.

—Mrs. Lynn Hays, Orange County

I had a successful career in Real Estate until surgery stopped me.

After surgery and months of convalescence with little exercise, my weight was out of control. I tried many reducing methods and all were very unsatisfactory.

Within two weeks improvement was certain with the Pat Walker Reducing Program. Results were steady and my general health and circulation improved.

I reduced from a 169-pound size 18½ to a 121-pound size 10. This business world is much easier to face in a trim dress size.

Approve CUHS Budget; Salary Base At $6,840

ONTARIO -- A final budget of $10,761,012 for 1969-70, calling for a teacher salary base of $6,840 a year, was adopted Monday night by the Chaffey Union high school district board of trustees.

A spokesman for the district's teachers' association promptly criticized the new pay scale as inadequate.

Last year's teacher salary base was $6,400.

The tax rate necessary to support the new budget is approximately $1.92, compared with about $2.12 for a $10,610,653 budget in 1968-69.

Both tax figures include special tax override assessments, since the statutory minimum tax rate is $1.70.

The teacher salary base was set after considerable discussion. The board last June agreed to set the salary base for the district at the "median minimum" of salaries paid in 20 southern California districts, using figures available at Aug. 4 as a basis for computing the minimum.

Salaries of all certificated personnel in the district are predicated on the base salary -- the amount paid a first year teacher with a bachelor's degree.

Information provided the board Monday night by district administrators said only 15 of the 20 schools under consideration had established salary minimums at this time and the average of these was $6,820.

However, the Associated Chaffey Teachers indicated the Garden Grove district had reached a decision to establish a $6,900 base. This would raise the minimum for 16 of the 20 schools to $6,840.

The administration recommended that the salary base be set at $6,850 in the belief that would be close to the median of the 20 schools after all had established their minimums.

MOTION BEATEN

A motion by trustee Mary B. Hecht to set the minimum at $6,850 died for lack of a second.

Ultimately, a motion by trustee A. Richard Allred establishing the salary base at $6,840 was carried unanimously.

Dale McKeon, chairman of the negotiating committee of the Associated Chaffey Teachers, said the teacher group believes that "this (decision) has been made on insufficient data and we are not in agreement with it."

CALLED MINIMAL

The teachers' association issued a statement after the meeting. It termed the salary increase "minimal" compared to some granted by other districts, "many other professions and the rise in the cost of living."

"The failure of the tax override," the statement continued, "paved the way for a tragic reduction in the educational program and in the teaching staff, but the Chaffey district CAN afford adequate salaries and health and welfare benefits THIS YEAR.

Lipscomb Recuperating

Congressman Glen Lipscomb (24th District) entered the Bethesda Naval Hospital on July 15 for examination and testing. He underwent intestinal surgery on July 23 and is progressing well. He is expected to remain in the hospital for approximately two more weeks.

Island's Fame

Cocos Island, off the coast of Costa Rica, is famous as the repository of pirate treasure said to be buried near its shores. None of this buried gold has ever been found.

SD Co. Tax Rate Will Jump 12 Cents

The San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors July 29 adopted a $131 million budget that sends the county tax rate spiral into its sixth year but requires a rate increase of only about 12 cents instead of the awesome 29 cents previously anticipated.

In final actions saving nearly 3 cents on the rate, the board slashed $262,000, including money for buying a Chino Hills dumpsite, from its capital improvement projects and approved a $628,233 parks development program that was $153,000 below department recommendations.

County Auditor Jocelyn M. Cox disclosed that, pending final adjustments in the county's tax base computations, the budget tentatively requires a tax rate of about $2.58 per $100 assessed valuation.

By exceeding last year's rate of $2.46, the new levy will be the highest in 37 years.

Almost as an illustration of why the State Legislature is considering tax reform aimed at reducing the property tax burden, the county rate has risen steadily every year from a 1963-64 level of $1.83.

College Prevue Set This Week

CLAREMONT - Approximately 120 high school students and/or recent graduates from all over the U.S. will get a first-hand idea of what college is about August 3-8 on the Scripps College campus.

They are enrolled in The College Skills-Career Guidance Institute and will live in the Mary Routt and Frankel Residence Halls on the campus.

Three main areas are covered in the program taught by college counseling experts and college students. The high school students will learn necessary skills which separate the good student from the just passing one; receive guidance in selecting a future career and in adjusting to the psychological and social difficulties involved in the jump from high school to college.

After a complete testing program, counselors will plan the student's program, working with his strengths and weaknesses to make him as effective as possible in today's college scene. Each student will be assigned to a discussion group, a study group and a living group. He will have three professional counselors to work with him as an individual.

The Northern Section of the College Skills - Career Guidance Institute is presently underway on the University of San Francisco campus.

Kenneth D. Burns, Director of the Institute, is Director of Career Planning and Placement at Humboldt State College.

Moisture Menace

To prevent outside moisture from damaging the exterior of your home, always keep the roof in good repair. Check and repair regularly flashing around chimney and brickwork. Keep gutters and downspouts cleaned and protected with paint; make sure that wooden siding does not come in contact with the ground, and that glazing and caulking around joints and seams is properly maintained.

Russian River Described As Great For Canoe Trips

We are already well into the annual vacation season -- the time when most people find it convenient and desirable to motor hither and yon in search of myriad pastimes. Californians are among the most fortunate travelers when it comes to a choice of places to go and things to see.

But sometimes we begin to think we've seen and done it all.

That's rarely the case, however. For instance, the Automobile Club of Southern California has a good idea for outdoor activists who have a week or so of vacation time coming but haven't yet planned their trip.

What would you say to an exciting canoe cruise down northern California's lovely Russian River? If the idea appeals to you, by all means read on. But read with this word of warning: to enjoy this unusual trip you must be willing to put everything out of your mind except clear, rippling water, tree-lined river banks, smogless skies, cool nights, campfire cooking -- and perhaps an occasional spill into the bright wetness you're floating on.

The last leg of a southern Californian's journey to reach his destination begins with departing San Francisco headed in a northerly direction. You cross the Golden Gate bridge, go through the charming seaside colony of Sausalito and continue on U. S. Highway 101 toward Sonoma county. After about a two-hour drive you arrive in Healdsburg where you make arrangements (at Healdsburg Beach) to rent your canoe.

DEPARTURE POINTS

You may start your downriver trip from Healdsburg or you may begin at one of several canoe-launching spots along the river.

Now, if you like your communing with nature in small doses, you can take the one-day (or less) trip. An unsinkable aluminum canoe rents for $10 per day (including transportation to the canoe starting point). The two-day drip runs $17.50 per canoe. There are even four and five-day trips available (usually for groups) which can take you 60 miles down the river to the Pacific ocean.

OVERNIGHT

On the two-day trip, you spend the night at Alexander Valley Bridge. Staying overnight here is described as "wilderness camping." That, of course, means you bring your own supplies. (A Coleman heater and stove are advisable.) However, you don't -- repeat: do not carry your food, equipment and sleeping gear in the canoe. When you reach the campsite, a member of the canoe rental staff will drive someone from your party back to your car or camper and that person drives back to the campsite with all the gear. There's no charge for this service, but they do ask that you put a little gas in their car.

A research crew from the Auto Club recently made the two-day trip and found it to be thoroughly delightful. The Russian River, its admirers claim, is truly the "canoe land of the far West." A large dam at the headwaters of the river releases a steady flow of water all year long. Canoeing is excellent almost any time except during late fall and winter. Generally speaking, the season for this sport runs from Easter through early November.

WHAT A TRIP

And what a two-day trip it was! The three-man team (it's not really advisable for more than 3 to ride in one canoe) took off from Asti -- after a refreshing wine tasting tour at a picturesque winery -- and paddled down the winding Russian. The scenery along the way was lush, green and restful. They canoed through gentle, rolling hills and orchard lan; basked in the warm sun; took pictures. At one point a member of the trio tried his luck at angling and found it to be great. Enough luck, in fact, to feed all three men. And handsomely at that!

Only one person aboard had ever had any experience with canoeing. Yet, all three adapted quickly and learned how to control and maneuver the craft. They did so well there was only one spill. Everyone got wet, naturally, but nothing was lost. A few plastic bags with string came with the boat; therefore, shoes and the camera survived well without getting one drop of dampness. (Note: it is a must for a poor swimmer to bring along his life belt.)

PROPER ATTIRE

Adventurists planning to make this trip should bring along tennis shoes, warm clothing for nighttime, and a hat to prevent sunburn.

If you don't have your own canoe and plan to rent one, it's advisable to have reservations for the boats. The only man who rents canoes on the Russian River is Bob Trowbridge, a veteran canoe master who knows the river well and is generous and friendly with his information and advice. You may write him for more detailed information and reservations at 625 B. St., Santa Rosa.

For those who want to make the trip for one or more nights but don't care for sleeping under the skies, there are comfortable motels in Healdsburg and other towns along the river.

UNSPOILED BEAUTY

People from the San Francisco bay area long ago discovered the precious and largely unspoiled beauty of the Russian river. Yet, there are millions of southern Californians who think it winds somewhere between Moscow and Leningrad.

Well, we've shown you it doesn't. And California's freeway system has made it closer and more attainable than ever for those in the southland. Many southlanders are already planning to spend their vacation time on the cool waters of the Russian river. For groups, YMCA outings and Boy Scout excursions, the canoe idea is really catching on.

If you decide to try this recreational delight, plan your trip well in order to see all the outdoor wonders possible while you drive northward to the country where you don't have to be an Indian to canoe your way out of care and into a carefree state of mind.

Be prepared to have one whacking good time.

4th Annual Fiesta Mexicana To Run From Aug. 1 To Sept. 1

Romantic Old Mexico returns to the Southland when the fourth annual Fiesta Mexicana of arts, crafts and spectacular entertainment opens August 1 at Universal City.

According to Miguel M. Blasquez, president of Ferias Y Exposiciones Mexicanas and Albert A. Dorskind, executive vice-president of MCA, parent company of Universal Studios, the Fiesta, to be staged daily throughout August, will be highlighted by displays of authentic, literally priceless specimens of pre-Colombian sculpture from both the Jules Berman-Kahlua and Mexican State Department collections.

MEXICAN SQUARE

The setting will be the new $75,000, permanent "Zocalo" or Mexican village square now in the process of completion at the summit of the hill overlooking Universal City.

"An exciting program of entertainment, featuring death-defying 'Flying Indians' of Papantla is being airlifted from Mexico," said Blasquez. "Javier de Leon's entire Fiesta Mexicana Folklorico Ballet will perform pre-conquest ann contemporary Mexican dances to the accompaniment of music played on native instruments.

"Our new Mexican Village 'Zocalo' adjoining the entrance to the Universal Studios Tour, has been modeled after the square of a small village near Chilpancingo, located between the silver capital of Taxco and Acapulco," Dorskind explained.

"Like its original counterpart, our 'Zocalo' will have permanent stalls for the display of the finest of Mexican handicrafts, including leatherwork, ceramics, glassware, runs, finely handwoven materials and furniture. In addition, skilled artisans, imported by Ferias Y Exposiciones Mexicans exclusively for the month-long Fiesta Mexicana, will display their age-old craftsmanship, much of which dates back to 900 BC, in glass-blowing, weaving, pottery, silver, and goldsmithing, and precicus gem-work."

The Fiesta Mexicana will be open from noon to 10 p.m., seven days a week, August 1 through September 1.

Besides continuous entertainment staged by the Folklorico Dancers and Flying Indians of Papantla, the Fiesta will also have Charro (Mexican cowboy) roping exhibits and strolling Mariachi musicians. Snack bars, featuring authentic "comida Mexicana" (Mexican food) prepared by Ray Vega of Casa Vega fame plus an outdoor cocktail lounge overlooking San Fernando Valley will be in full operation throughout the month-long spectacular.

CP Instructor To Study Garter Snakes

Dr. Glenn R. Stewart, associate professor of biological sciences at California State Poly-technic College, Kellogg-Voorhis, Pomona is preparing to undertake extensive work in breeding behavior and analysis, color, and skin patterns of garter snakes--this fall.

To aid his study, Stewart is now constructing a concrete block structure 16 x 20 feet with special compartments for breeding. The structure, financed by Sigma Xi, national science honor society, will house 80 snakes.

The initial part of his study will involve an analysis of behavior patterns which may be important in preventing cross-breeding of closely related species. Later, studies on the inheritance of color and scale patterns -- characteristics used in the classification of snakes--will be undertaken by Stewart.

"Actually, little is known about the mating behavior of snakes in comparison to other reptiles," he explained, "and practically nothing is known about the genetics of their distinguishing characteristics."

The college's extensive snake collection--including boas, rattlers, king snakes, and pythons, but dominated by garters -- recently was enlarged by 50 more garters that Stewart captured in the spring.

Food for the growing family of garter snakes presents no real problem, according to Stewart. Ducks and bass from one of the campus' two ponds were moved, and Stewart began to raise hundreds of black and silver sail fin mollies in the pond for the snakes to feed on.

"A garter snake is a harmless, striped snake. The species grow to a maximum of three feet long and a weight of one and one-half pounds," Stewart explained.

"They are easy to handle, and rarely bite. If one should bite, the victim would only experience slight pain, but no serious consequences."

Stewart is building swimming pools for the snakes to accommodate their trait of liking to take dips in hot weather. Because of their swimming habits, garter snakes are found near streams and lakes in California, and are abundant in the Pacific Northwest.

Two articles by Stewart on garter snakes have been published in national magazines. The first, "Thermal Ecology of the Garter Snakes," appeared in Herpetologica in 1965. "Some Observations on the Natural History of Two Oregon Garter Snakes" was printed in the Journal of Herpetology in 1968.

He spoke on "Aspects of Reproduction, Growth, and Size in Two Oregon Garter Snakes" at the annual meeting of the Western Society of Naturalists in Corvallis, Ore. in December, 1968.

Stewart joined the Cal Poly faculty in 1963. He received his B.S. from Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, and earned his M.S. and Ph.D. from Oregon State University.

He resides at 1517 Deventer dr., LaVerne, with his wife, Julie.
